

Hak-Man Kim
hmkim@inu.ac.kr

HAK-MAN KIM received his first Ph.D. degree in Electrical Engineering from Sungkyunkwan University, Korea in 1998 and received his second Ph. D. degree in Information Sciences from Tohoku University, Japan, in 2011, respectively. He worked for Korea Electrotechnology Research Institute (KERI), Korea from Oct. 1996 to Feb. 2008. Currently, he is a professor in the Department of Electrical Engineering, Incheon National University, Korea. His research interests include microgrid operation & control. He published over 80 journal papers on microgrids and his papers were cited over 1200.