

Dongjun Won

Professor in Inha University

Professor Dongjun Won completed his PhD in Electrical Engineering from Seoul National University, Korea in 2004. He was a research associate at University of Washington and a visiting scholar at University of California at San Diego. Since 2006, he has been working in the Department of Electrical Engineering, Inha University.

His research areas are control and operation of microgrid, energy storage system, and electric vehicles.