

Pierluigi Mancarella
University of Melbourne
pierluigi.mancarella@unimelb.edu

Pierluigi Mancarella is Chair Professor of Electrical Power Systems at The University of Melbourne and part-time Professor of Smart Energy Systems at The University of Manchester, UK. He received the MSc and PhD degrees from the Politecnico di Torino, Italy, worked as a post-doc at Imperial College London, UK, and held several visiting positions in US, France, Chile, and China. His research interests include techno-economics of smart energy systems and reliability and resilience of future networks. He has been involved in/led around 50 research projects worldwide and actively engaged with energy policy in Europe. Pierluigi is author of several books and of over 200 research publications, an Editor in several prestigious journals, and an IEEE Power and Energy Society Distinguished Lecturer. He holds the 2017 veski Innovation Fellowship by the Victorian Government and led the Melbourne Energy Institute's power system security assessment studies in support of the "Finkel Review".