

Sa'ad is a COREN Certified Systems Engineer with a demonstrated history of leading projects in the government and private sector. Skilled in Project Management, Procurement, Business Development and Decentralised Energy Systems. He is a strong information technology professional with a Master's in International Innovation (Electrical Engineering) from Lancaster University in the United Kingdom now focused on ensuring sustainable development for all.